RE: Fast Boat Traffic on Eagle Spring Lake

Dear Tom,

I have been monitoring the "ski channel" since last year's discussion on this matter. Two things are important that should be mentioned.

1) We have not had any problems in the ski channel or any complaints. It seems that the boaters using it are being very cautious and careful especially where it narrows by "K" pier. Usually there are only 1-2 boats pulling skiers in the channel at one time. By now, the local boaters know to make a wide turn coming into the narrow area so they can get a good look ahead.

2) We have seen a large influx of new boaters this year utilizing the new DNR launch. At some times, the main body of water has gotten a little congested. It seems that the new day boaters don't use the ski channel much, staying on the main body most of the time.

In conclusion, I would say to keep monitoring this area and reporting changes as we see them. It may be necessary to keep the channel open to skiers to keep pressure off the main lake.

Respectfully Submitted,

Sergeant Dennis Nork Town of Eagle Lake Patrol
